Objective and Features of the Fund

1. Objective of the Fund

The Fund aims at investment performance linked to the S&P 500 Index* converted into Japanese Yen (Benchmark Index), which means NAV volatility is to correspond with that of the Benchmark Index.

 The S&P 500 Index is a stock index published by S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC and is one of the leading stock indices in the United States. It is a market-capitalization-weighted index of 500 stocks listed and registered on the New York Stock Exchange and other exchanges, selected based on market size, liquidity, industry, etc.

2. Features of the Fund

- Main subject of investment
 - Stocks that are included or are due to be included in the Benchmark Index (including DRs (depository receipts) *) are to be the substantial and main subject of investment by the Fund.
 - The Fund may utilize derivative transaction such as stock index futures trading etc. and foreign exchange forward transactions, etc. or invest in listed investment trust securities.
-  DRs (Depositary Receipts) are the financial instruments issued in place of company stocks which are deposited in a bank, etc., in order to trade such company stock in foreign countries. DRs are traded at the financial instruments exchange in the same way as stocks.

■ Investment Policy

- (i) The Fund mainly invests in stocks that are included or are due to be included in the Benchmark Index (including DR (depository receipt)) and aims at investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index converted into Japanese Yen.
- (ii) For the purpose of targeting investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index converted into Japanese Yen, the Management Company may complementarily purchase stock index futures, etc. and incorporate listed investment trust securities into the Fund. Additionally, for the purpose of targeting investment performance effectively * linked to the Benchmark Index converted into Japanese Yen, the Management Company may use derivatives, such as the stock index futures, and foreign exchange forward transactions, for purposes beyond hedging, to realize gains and losses that are equivalent to those that arise as a result of holding assets that are subjects of investment, or to decrease the foreign exchange rate fluctuation risk, etc.
- *The ratio of market value of purchased stock index futures contracts to the total net assets of the Fund may increase depending on the fund's capital trends, market trends, etc.
- (iii) In principle, the Fund does not hedge for the foreign exchange rate applicable to foreign currency denominated assets that are substantially incorporated into the Fund.

Investment Risks

1. Factors that contribute to NAV volatility

The NAV of the Fund is subject to fluctuations in the prices of the securities, etc., in which the Fund invests. All profits and losses arising from fund management are borne by the investors. Any principal invested in the Fund by investors is therefore not guaranteed. Investors may incur a loss and the value of their investment principal may fall below par as the result of a decline in the NAV. The investment trust differs from a savings deposit.

Stock Price Fluctuation Risk		ation Risk	NAV of the Fund may be influenced by stock price fluctuations since the Fund invests in stocks.
Exchange	Rate	Fluctuation	The Fund may be influenced by exchange rate fluctuations
Risk			since the Fund, as a general rule, does not have a currency hedge relating to the foreign currency denominated assets that are substantially incorporated into the Fund		that are substantially incorporated into the Fund to limit its exposure to an exchange rate fluctuation risk.

^{*} The factors that contribute to fluctuations in the NAV are not limited to those mentioned above.

<< Primary Factors for Discrepancies between the Benchmark Index and NAV>>
The fund aims at an investment performance for NAV volatility linked to that of the Benchmark Index converted into Japanese; however, in managing the investment assets, we cannot guarantee that movements will be identical to those of the Benchmark Index primarily for the following reasons:

- (i) We cannot make individual stocks' incorporated ratio in the Fund completely the same as the component proportion of component stocks in the Benchmark Index.
- (ii) The Fund may incur market impact or bear costs such as brokerage commission, etc., by the trading of individual stocks, such as when portfolio adjustments are made due.
- (iii) There may be a disparity between (a) the timing of capital flow due to an additional issue or partial cancellations of the Fund, etc., and (b) the time the selected stocks in the Benchmark Index, etc., are actually traded in accordance with the said capital flow.
- (iv) There may be a disparity between the appraised value of certain stock in the Fund and that of the same stock in the Benchmark Index.
- (v) There is a difference between (a) the exchange rate used for appraising the value of assets denominated in foreign currencies of the Fund, and (b) the exchange rate used for calculating the Benchmark Index.
- (vi) When futures transactions are made, there is a price gap between the prices of the futures and the Benchmark Index.
- (vii) The Fund bears certain costs, such as trust fees.
- * The factors that contribute to the discrepancy between the Benchmark Index and NAV are not limited to those listed above.

2. Additional Considerations

The provisions stipulated in Article 37-6 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (so-called "cooling off") are not applicable to subscriptions to the Fund.

- Management based upon the investment policy may not be achieved depending on funding trends, market trends, etc., or unexpected circumstances.
- The interest/redemption payment from the issuers of the securities which are incorporated into the Fund may be delayed.
- Transactions pertaining to the Fund, such as an investment in securities and contracts related to such fund, may default because of the bankruptcy, or other similar event, occurring to a counterparty.
- NAV of the Fund and the Benchmark Index may differ because of costs and other factors. It is not guaranteed that the Fund's investment performance will track or exceed the Benchmark Index.
- The market price of the Fund is based upon supply and demand, as calculated through competitive buying and selling on the exchange. Therefore, market price may differ from the NAV itself.
- Beneficiaries cannot exchange their own beneficial interests in the Fund for the securities which correspond to their share of the beneficial interest in the trust assets of the Fund.
- Please be aware that the Fund will be delisted and the trust will be terminated if the number of units of beneficial interests is below 500,000 for 20 successive business days after three years have passed from the initial establishment date.

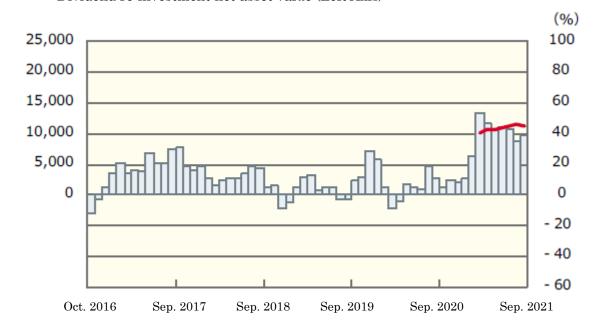

3. Risk Management System

The Management Company examines Fund performance and oversees management risks by having established a committee to take charge of these matters.

- Examination of the Fund performance
 - The committee reports and deliberates on the results of periodic examinations (analysis/evaluation) of the investment trust's trust asset performance results.
- Administration of management risk
 - The committee identifies and manages management risk and, based on its findings, provides guidance to the appropriate divisional management and any other relevant sections regarding rectification measures for appropriate administration.
